

Scholarship for members of female institutes of consecrated life, societies of apostolic life and secular institutes and ecclesial communities as well as other applicants: Bachelor in Theology or Licentiate in Spiritual Theology or Theological Anthropology

The Carmel Forum Foundation announces one scholarship especially intended for members of female institutes of consecrated life, apostolic societies and secular institutes for the three-year Bachelor programme in Theology or for the two-year Licentiate programme in Spiritual Theology or Theological Anthropology at the "Teresianum" Pontifical Theological Faculty - Pontifical Institute of Spirituality.

The Scholarship is granted for a respective period of three or two years and covers only and fully academic fees. Funds are paid directly to the faculty for the fees due:

- for a grant for the Bachelor programme: three annual enrolments, final examination, degree diploma for a total of 3'950 € (Status: academic year 2022-2023; any fee increases will be taken into account);
- for a grant for the Licentiate programme: two annual enrolments, delivery of the thesis, final examination, degree diploma for a total of 3'850 € (Status: academic year 2022-2023; any fee increases will be taken into account).

The grant is renewable after the first and second year on condition of renewal of enrolment.

APPLICATION INFORMATION

The scholarships are especially intended for members of female institutes of consecrated life, societies of apostolic life and secular institutes who possess:

- For the Bachelor programme: the title required for admission to a civil university, as well as the certificate of philosophical studies at a Faculty of Philosophy or other ecclesiastical Institute approved for this purpose;
- For the Licentiate programme: a university degree of Baccalaureate (or equivalent)
- as well as the academic qualification required in order to be admitted to a certificate programme at the "Teresianum" Pontifical Theological Faculty - Pontifical Institute of Spirituality.

Applicants are kindly requested to send the following documents (in either Italian, English, French, Spanish, or German) by e-mail, to info@carmelforum.com:

a) Motivation Letter (about 300 words) explaining the reasons for undertaking studies at the Teresianum, whether personal or related to one's Institute or the local Church;

b) Curriculum Vitae, including detailed information about the candidate's religious, scholastic and academic training, language skills, as well as any other information the candidate deems useful;

c) photocopy of an identity document;

d) for members of institutes of consecrated life: a letter of presentation from the Major Superior stating the intention to assign the student after the completion of her studies at the Teresianum to theological research, teaching or some other service for which the Bachelor or Licentiate studies would be useful.

Applications for scholarships must be submitted by 10 June 2023. A decision will be communicated by 1 July 2023.

For information and clarification please contact: info@carmelforum.com